
ADAMHS BOARD CONTRACTED AGENCIES

The following is a comprehensive alphabetical listing of agencies under contract with the ADAMHS Board to provide specific alcohol and other drug (AOD) and/or mental health services. These agencies may also provide additional services that the ADAMHS Board does not fund. Each listing includes the agency's name, the address of its main administrative office, the main telephone number, Web site (where applicable), and a general description of services offered (both ADAMHS Board contracted services and other services).

To easily identify services, please refer to the following key:

- Alcohol and/or Other Drug (AoD) Prevention Agency
- AoD Treatment Agency
- Mental Health (MH) Treatment Agency
- MH Consumer Support Agency
- Medicaid Only Agencies

Many of the agencies listed here may be accessed only through a specific referral process, particularly agencies providing children's services. Also, under current Ohio law, minors 14 years of age or older who do not present a danger to themselves or others may receive time-limited community mental health services, excluding medication, without parent/guardian consent or knowledge. If you have any questions about an agency or its services, please call the phone number that is listed next to that agency's name.

The Alcohol, Drug Addiction & Mental Health Services (ADAMHS) Board of Cuyahoga County compiled this directory using the most comprehensive and current information available at the time of printing. Any inaccurate information or omission is unintentional. Call 216-241-3400, ext. 814, with any updates, additions or suggestions. An online version of this services directory is available on the ADAMHS Board's Web site, www.adamhsc.org, under the Finding Help tab.

Bellflower Center for Prevention of Child Abuse prevents child abuse and neglect by breaking the cycle of child abuse in all its forms through clinical treatment and education. Bellflower Center provides wide-ranging services for child abuse prevention and recovery, from preparing caregivers for healthy parenting and equipping children to stay safe, to helping adults and children as young as three years learn to overcome the child abuse trauma they have suffered. Bellflower Center programs include telephone crisis and support services; individual and group therapy for those who have been abused; teen parent services, and community education on child abuse prevention. We provide training to professionals and go into schools to provide the Personal Safety Skills Program for children. Our course for human service professionals and mandated reporters include Child Abuse Recognition, Reporting and Prevention, Understanding Child Sexual Behavior, and Healthy Discipline. Since its beginning, Bellflower Center has remained Greater Cleveland's only agency with the sole mission of the prevention of child abuse and neglect.

Community Behavioral Health Center (CBHC) is a community-based mental health agency accredited by The Joint Commission, and is licensed by the Ohio Department of Mental Health for the provision of mental health services to adults. Our mission is to enhance individual and community health by offering quality care that promotes wellness, healing and quality of life. CBHC's quality-driven approach utilizes a disease management perspective in our clinical interventions. Our clients' emotional well-being and physical health are intertwined. A well articulated question sets in motion a process that leads to information and then to new ideas about clinical treatment of the whole person. The right direction in treatment is established by the right questions. Once we define the question in a way that enables our clients to give us relevant information, we can be confident that we are moving toward more creative and effective approaches to clinical care, and ultimately, toward more useful results and outcomes for our clients.

Since 1985 Women's Alliance for Recovery Services, Inc., has been offering "New Hope for a New Life" to women whose lives have been devastated by alcohol and other drug addiction. The Women's Alliance helps clients navigate the system and access treatment as well as other resources that meet their needs for recovery (ie. childcare, transportation, legal advice, support groups, sober and safe housing, etc.) Additionally we educate substance-abusing women and their significant others about healthier ways to deal with life's difficulties, and advocate for women and women's issues related to addiction by addressing barriers to treatment access and the impact of trauma on treatment outcomes. Free, bilingual (Spanish) and confidential services.
